Timelessness

In the ageless city today time stands still, and all recall the year 1300 when the first Holy Year of Jubilee was proclaimed by Pope Boniface VIII.

In our minds we envision pilgrims past, present, and future (ourselves) now marching into Rome, the eternal city—which gathers the past to her present, which gives a glimpse of eternity.

When time is set on such a large scale, our daily activities merge into nothingness, dwarfed by the centuries. But when we look back on our days at Saint Mary during this Holy Year, our Semper Maria, permeated with thoughts of Time, will help us to relive the little things that make Saint Mary always a part of us.

Thus, mindful of the millions of pilgrims who are fortunate enough to spend some time at the center of Christendom, to walk and talk with the Holy Father, we dedicate this book to them—with the hope that all people of all nations will soon heed his pleadings and return to the true Faith.

witnesses the same inspiring ceremonies and hears the same stately hymns. The courtyard resounds with the same "huzzahs." The basilicas of St. Mary Major, St. Paul Outside the Wall, and St. John Lateran echo the same hushed footfalls. Nothing changes; nothing will.

We are a part of this. All of us at Saint Mary are listed among this year's pilgrims—if not in body, at least in spirit. But it is possible that some of us will be humble pilgrims witnessing the solemn ceremonies of the Holy Year in 1975 or 2000, when the Pope again will be carried through the crowds on the sedia gestatoria, ascend his throne, and complete the simple, stirring rite of opening the Holy Door.

Our beloved leader, His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, is welcoming with open arms the millions of pilgrims who throng today before St. Peter's Cathedral in the same manner as in the past.

On the inside also there is a sense of sameness: the magnificent cathedral of St. Peter

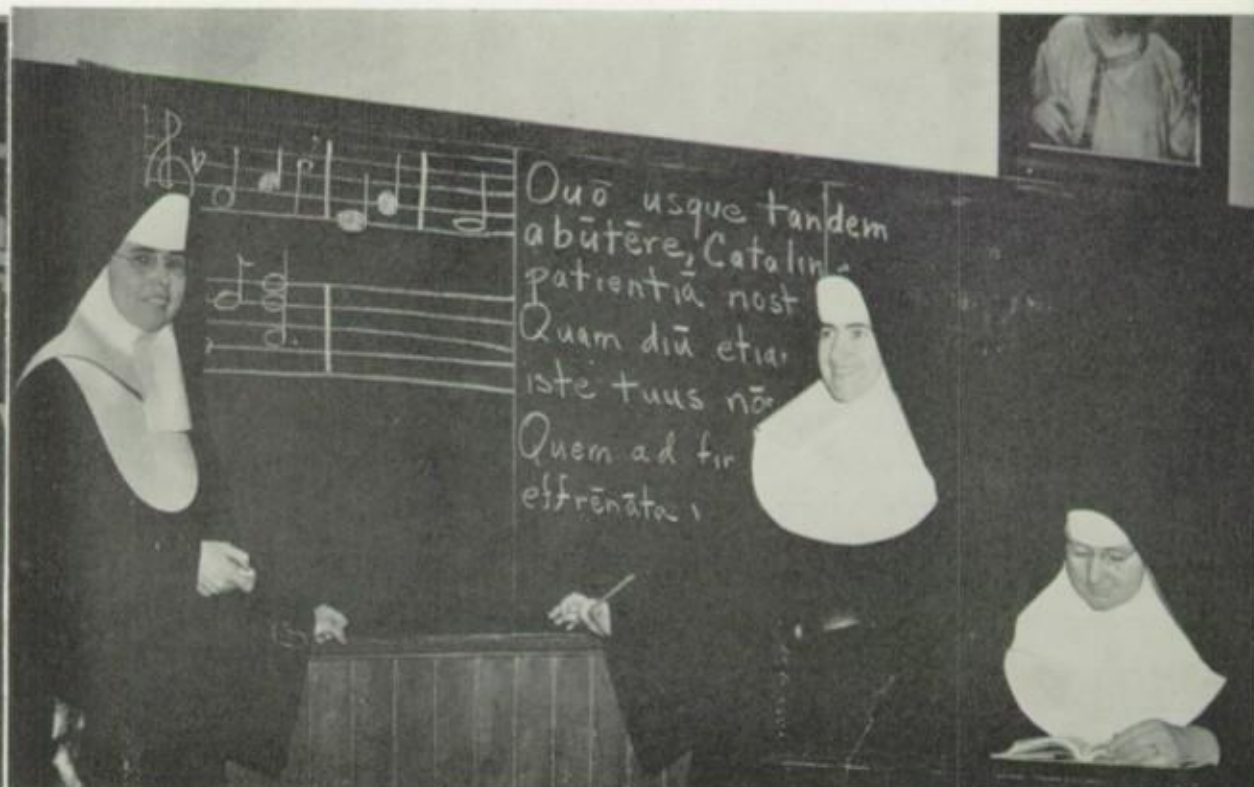

Their time

Although a variety of subjects are taught by these nuns, they have one in common — religion. SISTER MARY MAGDALENA, R.S.M., a quiet and dignified Sister of Mercy, is new at St. Mary's this year. She staged the Spanish dance for the Talent Show. SISTER MARY JEROME, R.S.M., is the intensive religion teacher of the freshies, sophs, and juniors. The seniors always miss her very positive personality. SISTER MARY ANNUNCIATA, R.S.M., a very constant companion of Sister Mary Bonaventure, is interested in training girls the Mercy Way. SISTER MARGARET MARY, R.S.M., came to us in October from New Mexico but is recognized by her "Bahston" accent. She's always bubbling over with good cheer.

Sister Mary Jerome, R.S.M., is the intensive religion teacher of the freshies, sophs, and juniors. The seniors always miss her very positive personality. SISTER MARY ANNUNCIATA, R.S.M., a very constant companion of Sister Mary Bonaventure, is interested in training girls the Mercy Way. SISTER MARGARET MARY, R.S.M., came to us in October from New Mexico but is recognized by her "Bahston" accent. She's always bubbling over with good cheer.

St. Mary's library is ably manned by assistant librarian SISTER DOROTHY MARIE, R.S.M., whose charge is the ever-busy Mission Committee. She seems to have a special interest in each one of us and loves to share our triumphs and failures. Of course we can't forget SISTER MARY SEBASTIAN, R.S.M., our sweet little librarian whose little lessons of life are treasured by St. Marians. And in the arts there are Latin and French, languages international, and music, which, they say, is the language of love. And the one who loves music is SISTER MARY OF THE ANGELS, R.S.M. She directs glee clubs, voice classes, and private lessons and is musical from the crown of her nodding head to the tip of her tapping toe. A real "modern" foreign language is French under SISTER MARY CATHERINE, R.S.M., who'll long be remembered as a wise and unselfish teacher. "Penny" for her thoughts, and she thought about "Penny" from February 20 to April 17. One to make us appreciate the value of the ancient language Latin is SISTER MARY ASSUMPTA, R.S.M., the devoted Sodality moderator. In history and in other subjects, too, her knowledge and understanding seem limitless.

is Our time

Here is the director of St. Mary's school life, our principal, SISTER MARY BRENDAN, R.S.M., who, although by far the smallest, is one of our dearest and busiest nuns. She's a wise counselor to the senior class and an authority on every subject, especially Religion IV. In her hand you can usually find either a report card or a bill; although she's tiny, she does an excellent job of managing St. Mary's.

Putting their heads together over St. Mary's menagerie, these sisters also put their heads together in the field of science. SISTER MARY DAVID, R.S.M., a dear adviser and second mother to the girls in the gym, sponsors Red Cross and holds sway in the biology lab along with SISTER MARY TERESINA, R.S.M., who is always prompt with an idea up her voluminous sleeve. Art Hobby and Christophers are her special interests. As the ruler of the scarred and battered chem lab we find SISTER MARY ROGER, R.S.M., whose collection of jokes is the envy of all. The building usually has to be aired out after her chem class' experiments. The time spent in checking a typewriter is nothing compared to the hours in correcting the weekly type budgets spent by SISTER MARY MERCEDES, R.S.M., a newcomer to St. Mary's, who is very pleasant and considerate of all. She looks after the debate club. Another budget-checker is SISTER MARY EDWARD, R.S.M., superior of the sisters here and a kindly nun who gives her unselfish devotion to the school.

The Hour Runs Through

. for the senior class and their officers—president Loretta Koley, vice-president Lela Mae Everhart, secretary Joyce Goodman, and treasurer Frances Mullen—as their fourth year quickly sifts to a close.

Looking back over these fleeting years, a senior smiles as she views herself first, as a green and giggly freshie roaming the halls next, as a sophomore solicitously ushering the next crop of lost freshmen then, as a junior, detached and aloof, covering up the anxiety of her uncertain prom date. She has bridged the hurdle between upper and lower classmates and last, as a senior, she looks forward with mixed emotions to her final year at St. Mary's, and to graduation.

O, God, the Holy Ghost . . . through the ardent zeal of thy humble handmaid, Saint Francis Xavier Cabrini, grant us Thy all-powerful aid in our necessities

Saint Mary's First Citizens

Overtime Without Time and a Half . .

. has been the motto of Rita Brice and Philomene Skropka during the past four years. These girls, elected by the sophomores, juniors, and seniors as the model St. Marian citizens, represent those qualities that always make a St. Mary girl outstanding. And now their names will be engraved on the third-floor plaque which displays those of the other first citizens of St. Mary's.

Queen for a Day . . .

. was the ambition of Patricia Colchin, Patricia Moylan, and Barbara Stewart, St. Mary's three candidates for Queen of Creighton Prep's Homecoming last October 22. Nominated by Prep's football team, these smiling girls made the hearts of all loyal St. Marians proud as they rode into the stadium atop shining convertibles. Cheers greeted the announcement that Patricia Moylan took second honors for the evening.

Once Upon A Time . .

. . . there was a distinguished—but jovial—Father with 367 adopted children, in whose hearts he held a special place by proving his interest in their welfare and activities during periodic visits. At these times, too, wonderfully enough, he benevolently employed two magical, cure-all words, “Free Day!”

Passing the Time of Day . . .

. . . with Father O'Brien, about the most wonderful next-door neighbor we could have. This friendly priest who taught religion to seniors, will be remembered for his sense of humor, cheery greeting, undaunted determination, and always active support of Saint Marian projects.

and then there's always outdoor lunchtime in the spring and fall . . .

"sum" time . . . "know" time . . . "hi" time . . . "play" time . . . "sum" time . . .

"know" time... "hi" time... "play" time... "sum" time... "know" time..

Time Marches On!

. . . yes, time marches on, but our junior class has set the tempo for you—for instance, Eddie Haddad's final downbeat at Peony Park on April 27. For this was "our" year of . . . upperclassmen privileges, i. e., the porch entrance; the Prom Announcement; senior prophecies; and, typically us, "The Jokers' Jamboree."

*Open to me Thy Sacred Heart, oh
Jesus; show me Its charms, unite me to It forever . . .*

Our Time Is Drawing Near

. . . for that bearded gentleman, Father Time himself, prods us sophomores forward so insistently that he allows only an occasional nostalgic glimpse of . . . the hamsters who resided in gym, lower floor, center west; geometric construction of eighteen-sided match-boxes; Caesar's attacks (mostly on us); and—definitely—such lighter moments as the senior party and our dances, one of which was "The Twinkle Toe Twirl."

God's Time

is all the time in the St. Mary Sodality, where each girl strives to increase her personal sanctification and the sanctification of those around her. Under the capable leadership of Sister Mary Assumpta each girl's spiritual life is carefully directed, and she is diligently instructed in the Sodality rules by the officers.

The Sodality is constantly moving toward its final goal—ad Jesum per Mariam.

"I have only just a minute . . . only sixty seconds in it . . .

and in that minute Father Koros gave you your medal . . .

it's up to me to use it . . . I must suffer if I loose it" . . .

Standing: Marian Consoleno, Louise Battaglia, Rita Falkenberg, Loretta Koley; seated: Patricia Moylan, Regina Neuberger, Margaret Kelly, Joan Fangman.

Hours Spent For God Will Reap Great Dividends

. as any Study Club member will tell you. Bi-weekly these seniors participate in round table discussions with other Catholic students.

. when the energetic committee chairmen plan the St. Mary Sodality activities. One of these, the October crowning of Christ the King, is directed by the Eucharistic Committee.

. dividends sometimes not fully recognized until the very evening of May crowning—when, after freshmen and sophomores have taken their places and juniors and seniors have followed to form their traditional symbols, the May Queen and her attendants move slowly up the lawn to the grotto, where they pay humble tribute to our Queen and Mother.

. for the Christophers, who spend after-school moments rummaging through the neighborhood for Catholic literature, distributing religious articles and festive “candy-cups” to convalescent homes, and canvassing the town for mission-bound clothing.

Of All Time

we spent throughout the year we cherished none more than the three days of retreat, January 17, 18, 19. Using the battlecry, "Keep the Triangle in the Circle, Vaselinas!" retreatmaster Reverend Daniel Campbell, S.J., left with us an indelible impression of his straight-forward advice, striking thoughts and parables, sparkling vitality, and tremendous zealousness.

Everyone united in prayer but each alone with God.

The Month of Mary

. . . . can't help but be the loveliest month of the year, for it is then that we pay homage to our Queen and Mother in her garden and grotto. In March the student body, saying a prayer for guidance, voted for the seniors whom they thought most "Mary-like." This year they honored Louise Battaglia, May Queen; Patricia Colchin, first attendant; and Joanne Rashid, second attendant.

. . . and they do keep time keeping time . . . keeping time . . . keeping time . . . keeping time . . .

so early in the morning . . .

keeping time . . . keeping time . . . keeping time . . . keeping time . . .

Perfect Timing

With open mouths and mirthful smiles these two-hundred voices went singing through the year . . . entertained Te Deum with "Louisiana Hayride" and "Kyrie;" added to the Christmas Spirit with the sophomores, juniors, and seniors harmonizing in "Jingle Bells," "Hymn of Joy," and "Lullaby" and the freshmen contributing the traditional Christmas carols; saluted the school on Easter over KBON with a joyous forty-voice choir; and as a triumphal closing, resounded through the concert halls of Joslyn on May 9 in a brilliant recital of St. Marian musical talents.

Sister Mary of the Angels, the lovable and persevering Directress-of-all-Music, making possible and sharing in the successes of this group, realizes, as all realize, that only practice makes perfect timing.

Hours Of Happiness

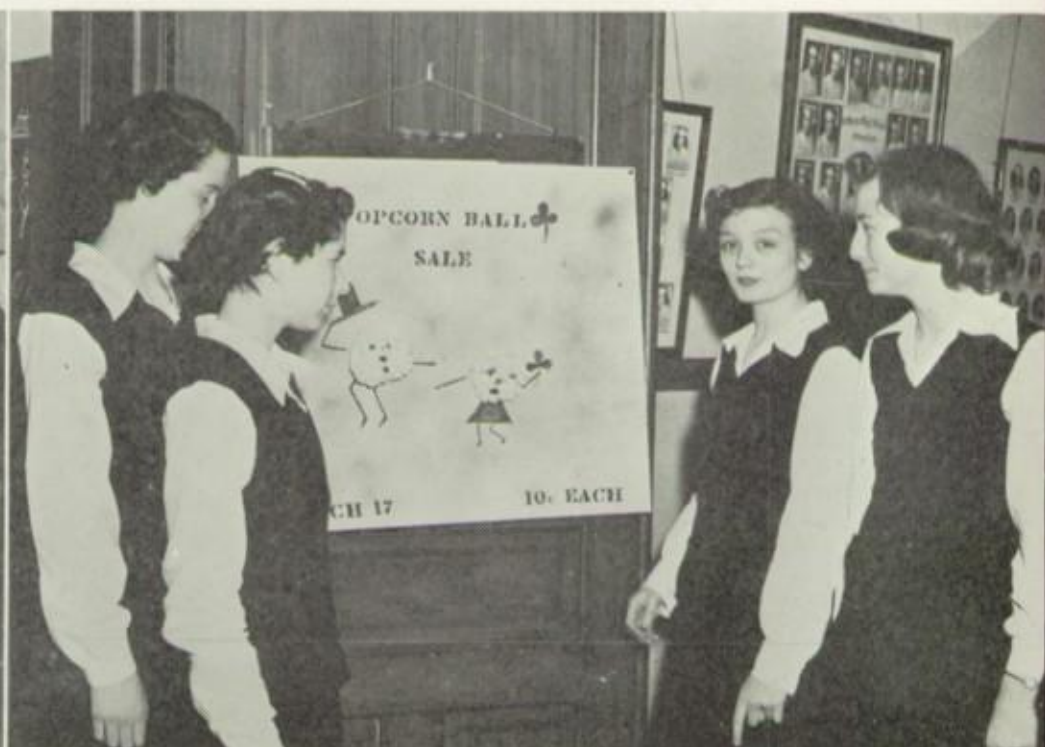

. . . were brought to the Indian Missions through the persevering efforts of Saint Mary's Mission Committee.

Ten boxes of used clothing and four boxes of Christmas gifts were sent to the Indian children; and, in the monetary line, $100 was raised by numerous cake and popcorn ball sales.

Co-chairman Betty Cromwell and Joan Fangman and their helpers made this a very successful mission year.

Sophs and juniors help the chairmen pack the used clothing.

Viewing Kathleen O'Brien's winning poster are freshmen poster-makers R. Ronk, F. Ryan, D. O'Keefe, K. O'Brien.

"Everytime I Meet You"

. . . and what would we ever do without our law-enforcing executives—the eleven student-councilors and their forty senior assistants? These valiant girls as hall monitors enforce "Mum's the word" between classes.

With an Eye on the Time Card

. . . Saint Mary debaters, time and time again, with anxious minds, clammy hands, and madly-jumping nerves, have wished for just seventy-eight more seconds when Madam Timekeeper has exhibited "Time's Up" or, sometimes, wondered how in the world they could possibly have five minutes' and thirteen seconds' worth of time remaining with only two minutes' and fourteen seconds' worth of material remaining.

A. Caldwell, J. Frederick, J. Jaksich, and P. Maher deep in debate notes.

Coach Jim Emerson and Debate Club prexy Rita Brice compare notes in a spare moment.

Debaters listening to last minute instructions from coach Jim Emerson before the tilt with Sacred Heart. Sister Mary Mercedes, the club's sponsor, who is ever helpful with practical hints and generous aid, is seated in the foreground.

Curtain

"Don't Take My Penny"

. . . for this particular Penny is the movie-mad little darling who captivated the heart of Omaha April 16 and 17.

This three act comedy by Anne Coulter Martens had everything—youth, charm, funny incidents, and good parts for all.

Minute by minute, laugh by laugh, the audience realized "Don't Take My Penny" was the best they'd seen.

The characters, bright as new pennies, were superbly portrayed by St. Mary's Dramatic Club and students from Creighton Prep and Creighton University.

It's about time for my cue

Parlez-vous francais, mademoiselle?

Oui? Why then, as a Le Cercle Francais'er, you have supplemented the textbook's irregular verbs and disjunctive pronouns by monthly discussion of French customs, presentation of French skits and slides, and, mais certainment! due appreciation of French pastry.

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the country" . . .

If every Saint Marian who typed this clause heeded its appeal, the country would be overrun with aid.

This year's flying-fingered typists and shorthand-ists, who achieved the maximum speed of their classes for honors are juniors Delores Gregor and Lucille Gulizia and seniors Maureen Waite and Lucille Kaipust.

I'd "candy" like to tell you how much your faithfulness and thoughtfulness has "mint" to me - it's wonderful, year after year.

Marcia S. Patterson.

They're Always Running Out of Time

I—The "editors" with the "editor-in-chief." A yearbook conference is held between Mrs. Patterson and Joan Fangman, Semper Maria editor. Talking over the Marianette's news are Prudence Tynan, Business Manager, and Jean Frederick, "Just in Jest." Ann Caldwell, Marianette editor, muses over some proof.

II—First Semester first-year journalists place the Marianette in its rightful place among the high school papers of the country. Left to right: G. Haniszewski, S. Brice, M. Wees, P. Abboud, M. Martin, J. Fangman; absent: J. Eutzy, T. Belitz.

... because they're running into time, for these reporters and editors have to think weeks ahead so that no Marianette news item will be overlooked. Although possessing this double vision, they often wish they were also favored with a touch of bi-location, ambidextrousness, and the gift of tongues.

Weeks of thoughtful layout planning, accurate measuring of pictures, and careful name-taking added up to a yearbook several pages larger than the 1949's.

Eight top-notch issues of the Marianette went to press after hours of contacting people; sifting out the important information; writing, typing, re-writing, and re-typing stories; meeting (and not meeting) deadlines; and making up those trying dummy pages. Not to be forgotten are the three senior typists—Mary Lou Finkowicz, Lucille Kaipust, and Maureen Waite—who helped get the copy shipshape.

10 MORE NEW SUPER-BUSES

BETTER RUSH-HOUR SERVICE FOR OMAHA RIDERS

During the five rush hours, when we carry over 60% of the day's passengers, Super Buses help provide faster, more comfortable service. The Super Bus helps solve traffic and parking problems, too. It takes the space of only three autos but carries 20 to 35 times more passengers.

You have helped make this yearbook possible.

SISTERS AND STUDENTS
ST. MARY HIGH SCHOOL

We always found enough time before the dances to transform the gym into a festive ballroom.

At prom announcement time a life-size snowlady and 84 snowballs revealed the prom date as April 27. All agreed: it was a "striking" success.

Times To Remember

Teentime at Saint Mary's was featured on Brandeis' Campus Cavalcade February 4

Juniors and seniors had the "time of their lives" at the prom April 27. Before the dance Rosemary Traynor and Jeanne Tucker introduce their dates to Sister Mary Teresina and Sister Dorothy Marie.

Times To Remember

What wonderful times we had at the numerous Saint Mary dances!

To Frances,
